Advance Your Career in Aviation Management

BSc (Hons) Airline,
Airport and Aviation
Management

What's Happening? Global Airline Industry

In an era defined by rapid technological advancement and expanding global connectivity, the airline, airport, and aviation sector continues to be a beacon of growth and opportunity. For experienced professionals already contributing to this vibrant industry, the landscape presents unparalleled potential for significant career progression. While the sector's horizons broaden, it concurrently faces a critical talent shortage, particularly within management and specialised leadership roles. This gap underscores an urgent demand for skilled professionals ready to step up. For you, as an established aviation practitioner, this translates into a wealth of compelling opportunities: access to international postings, accelerated pathways into senior positions, and the prospect of substantially enhanced earning potential. The route from your current role into management is not only highly attractive but eminently achievable. By leveraging your existing experience and combining it with ambition and targeted professional development, you are uniquely positioned to advance. The sector increasingly values internationally recognised credentials – these are key differentiators that unlock senior global opportunities and set the stage for transformative leadership journeys within aviation.

BSc (Hons) Airline, Airport and Aviation Management

Our multidisciplinary programme is designed to build upon your existing aviation expertise, providing a robust understanding of the core disciplines essential for senior aviation management within a global business context. You will deepen your strategic perspective on the complex international environment in which airlines and airports operate, through focused study of economics, human resources, marketing, and finance. The curriculum places strong emphasis on sharpening your decision-making capabilities – enhancing your skills at operational, international, and strategic levels to meet the demands of leadership roles.

Integral to this course is equipping you with the advanced knowledge and critical skills necessary to progress into high-level aviation positions, such as Airline Operations Management, Aviation Engineering Management, or Airline Strategy Development. Leverage our extensive connections within the aviation community, including a powerful alumni network of industry leaders, to propel your advancement and open doors to influential opportunities.

Multiple Pathway Options

24-Month Pathway

This two-year option provides exemption from the first year of study, enabling entry at Year 2 level. Designed for individuals with foundational academic qualifications and introductory industry experience, it allows completion of the remaining degree requirements through structured progression.

20-Month Pathway

Offering exemption from the initial 1.5 years with mid-Year 2 entry, this accelerated pathway suits those with intermediate-level qualifications and substantial practical background. Participants engage with core degree content through an intensive learning format.

12-Month Pathway

This condensed one-year pathway permits direct entry to the final year, tailored for candidates with advanced prior learning and significant professional background. It enables degree completion through focused study while recognising extensive existing knowledge.
